

FARM TRANSITION: PLANNING FOR THE NEXT GENERATION

As a follow-up to the March 11th workshop, Farm Transition: Planning for the Next Generation, the Duplin County Cooperative Extension Center and the University of Mount Olive Agribusiness Center will offer one-on-one consultations to start your own farm transition plan. Each session will be led by an experienced lawyer with expertise in land assets, farm transition and estate planning. Discussing your farm transition plan is the first step in ensuring your assets are distributed as you wish so that your family's future is protected.

Five free one-on-one consultations will be offered at the Duplin County Extension Office. These are available on a first come, first serve basis. Your one-on-one education session is in confidence, but does not create an attorney-client relationship. It is for educational purposes only. The meetings will take place in the Duplin County Center, 165 Agriculture Drive, Kenansville NC 28349.

If you are interested in attending one of these five sessions, please confirm a session time when you register for the conference by calling the Duplin County Cooperative Extension Center at (910) 296-2143.

Available sessions are:
