FARM TRANSITION WORKSHOP SCHEDULED FOR ONSLow COUNTY FARMERS AND LANDOWNERS

Jacksonville, NC (May 1, 2013) – NC Cooperative Extension - Onslow County is partnering with Mount Olive College's Lois G. Britt Agribusiness Center to conduct a farm transition workshop for area farmers and landowners. Mount Olive College received funding from the USDA Risk Management Agency to conduct farm transition regional events and workshops in eastern North Carolina.

The workshop will be a comprehensive review of farm transition and what tools and resources are available to assist landowners with farm transition and estate planning. The workshop topics will include:

- Present Use Value Tax Program and how PUV is affected when property is transferred
- Tax law updates and how the changes in tax laws affect farm transition and estate planning.

The workshop will be held:

Tuesday July 16, 2013
6:00PM – 8:30PM
NC Cooperative Extension Onslow County
4024 Richlands Highway
Jacksonville, NC

For information and to register call: 910-455-5873 (Onslow County)

Registration is required. This workshop is open to all farmers and landowners in and around the Onslow County area.
